

Workshop on “Econometrics and its applications In Social Sciences”

28th May to 30th May, 2024

Organised by

Department of Economics In collaboration with Internal Quality Assurance Cell
Srinagar Women’s College Srinagar Batpora, Zakura

PRELUDE

Empirical validation of the social sciences theories and making reliable forecasts using historical data constitute an important part of the subject matter. Econometrics via its dynamic integration of economic theory and data provides scrupulous insights into the working of economies across globe. In this context, the workshop is designed as a rigorous course on econometrics and its applications. It is expected to provide a perfect platform to research scholars and young faculty members for understanding theoretical and empirical issues involved in data analysis. Alongside hard-core theoretical discussions, emphasis would be on practical (applied) aspects to help participants to learn the technicalities in a systematic manner. Additionally, adequate time will be devoted towards understanding the application of statistical packages (STATA and EViews). Hopefully, the participants will be able to develop conceptual clarity regarding econometric methodology and necessary expertise to run the software for data analysis and to derive policy recommendations/conclusions.
